

Developing characters

Fables usually have two, non-human characters with opposite characteristics (for example kind/unkind, wise/foolish, confident/shy etc.)

Create two characters for your fable, adding words and phrases to describe them.

Think about how speech could show their characteristics; what might they say and how might they say it?

Character 1 (Main character)	Character 2

What will they learn in the fable?	How will they help/warn/challenge the main character?
What might they say?	What might they say?
